Food For Life Scotland - Sourcing Directory

When eating out, people want reassurance that their food, and their children's food, is fresh and additive-free. They want to know that the issues they care about, from animal welfare to climate change, have been taken care of. The Food for Life Catering Mark is a Soil Association accreditation scheme to help leading caterers give their customers that reassurance. To find out more about the Food for Life Catering Mark visit http://www.sacert.org/Catering/tabid/1056/Default.aspx

This sourcing directory is for caterers wishing to source Scottish organic, RSPCA Freedom Food and Marine Stewardship Council (MSC) certified produce as they make step-wise progress towards the Food for Life Catering Mark Silver and Gold.

The directory is not exhaustive. If you would like your details added to this document or if you have problems sourcing a particular product, please contact
Pam Rodway: 07917 230 124/ prodway@soilassociation.org OR
Elsie Downham: 0131 666 2474/ 07562 780 302/ edownham@soilassociation.org

The directory is organised by product type (meat, fish, eggs, dairy, fruit & vegetables, dry goods and bread). Individual producers are then listed by Scottish region.

Please note that although every practical effort is made to keep these listings up to date, it may sometimes be the case that a supplier ceases to hold organic or other accreditation. Soil Association Scotland cannot be held responsible for any listings where certification has ceased since this document was last updated. Purchasers of organic products should always request that suppliers provide a current organic certificate and trading schedule.
