Why we joined the Soil Circle

"We have been supporters of the Soil Association for more than 20 years and we believe that now, more than ever before, our support is important to accelerate the Soil Association's work, and be part of a movement which has the potential to make a significant positive impact to the health and climate crises we are all facing."

David and Susan, Soil Circle members since 2002

Help to transform the way we eat, farm and care for the world around us

Go further to protect nature

Our natural world is more at risk than ever, from intensive farming, the over-use of pesticides, and the effects of climate change.

We're determined to transform the way we eat, farm and care for the world around us. Our Soil Circle members are critical to that mission, making our most important work possible. Helping farmers switch to more nature-friendly practices. Funding research into healthier farming practices. Lobbying the government to adopt policies that benefit nature, not work against it.

Become a Soil Circle member today

By joining as a Soil Circle member, you'll be part of a group of our most passionate, like-minded supporters. You'll help us plan ahead with confidence, and increase the impact of our work for a healthier, more nature-friendly world.

What it means to be a Soil Circle member

Becoming a Soil Circle member is a unique way to put your passion for nature into action. Your regular gifts will help support important campaigns, scientific research and farming innovation. You'll be at the heart of our organisation, helping to make meaningful changes towards a world in balance with nature.

As a Soil Circle member, you'll receive a range of exclusive benefits:

First-hand knowledge and preferential access

You'll be the first to hear ground-breaking news directly from Soil Association thought leaders on the environmental issues that matter.

Invitations to Soil Association events

We want to get to know you and hear your views. As a Soil Circle member, you'll receive invitations to a range of special events, from farm walks to keynote lectures. You'll have the opportunity to discuss topical issues with leaders in the organic movement.

A circle of influence

You'll be joining a group of committed and influential individuals who share your passion for the natural world. It's a wonderful chance to network with like-minded people and make connections that count.
